Contents

Preface to the Second Edition  xiii
Preface to the First Edition  xv
Acknowledgments to the Second Edition  xix
Acknowledgments to the First Edition  xxi

Part 1. The Perils of Traditional Management

1. Fads, Fantasies, and Fixes  3
   From “My Own Style” to a Precise Procedure  5
   Management by Sloshing Around Versus Precision Management  6
   Business Is Behavior  8
   Behavior Is a Function of Its Consequences  8
   A Most Practical Approach  9

2. Management by Common Sense Is Not Management at All  10
   Common Sense Versus Scientific Knowledge  11
   The Popularity of a Management Approach Guarantees Nothing  12
   If It Ain’t Broke, Find Out Why  13
   There Are More Wrong Answers than Right Ones  15

3. Louder, Longer, Meaner  17
   Surprise! People Don’t Do What You Tell Them to Do  18
   Why Telling Alone Does Not Bring Out the Best in People  18
   A Place for Antecedents  19
   Threat as Antecedent—Not Consequence  22
Part 2. The Astonishing Power of Positive Reinforcement

4. Behavior Is a Function of its Consequences  25
   Every Consequence Every Day  27
   Increasing Performance Through Reinforcement  28
   Consequences That Decrease Performance  28
   Doing Nothing Is Doing Something to Performance  29
   A Change of Focus  30
   The More Immediate, the Better  30
   Reinforcers Are More Effective than Rewards  31
   Management Myth: People Resist Change  31
   Everybody’s Behavior Makes Sense to Them  32
   No-Fault Performance: Change—Not Blame  33

5. The ABCs of Performance Management  34
   A Way of Seeing Things As Others See Them  34
   Building Trust  37

6. The High Price of Negative Reinforcement  41
   Positive or Negative Reinforcement: What Difference Does It Make?  43
   Five Easy Clues That Indicate Negative Reinforcement Is Present  45
   Negative Reinforcement and the Illusion of Control  48
   Negative Reinforcement and Control  49

7. Capturing Discretionary Effort Through Positive Reinforcement  53
   What Does Positive Reinforcement Look Like?  54
   Kinds of Positive Reinforcement  56
   Grandma’s Law  58
   Case Study  59
   Sources of Positive Reinforcement  60

8. Decreasing Behavior—Intentionally or Otherwise  63
   Punishment and Penalty—Stopping Behavior  64
   Different Strokes  65
   Punishment Never Solves a Problem  65
   Recovery  65
   Extinction—Doing Nothing Changes Behavior  66
9. Effective Delivery of Reinforcement 70

Common Mistakes in the Delivery of Positive Reinforcement 71
4 to 1 Rule 74
Competition for Positive Reinforcement 75
Employee of the Month 75
Two Attempts at Positive Reinforcers That Aren’t 76

Part 3. The Scientific Approach to Leadership

10. Pinpoint Precision 81

Beware of the Activity Trap: Pinpoint Results First 83
Pinpoints Are Not Inside the Person 84
If It Doesn’t Move, It’s a Result 86
Precision Pinpointing 87
Observability 87
Measurability 87
Reliability 88
Counts of Behaviors Versus Results 88
Control of the Pinpoint 89

11. The Effective Use of Measurement 91

Myth: What Gets Measured Gets Done 91
Overcoming Resistance to Measurement 93
How to Measure 93
Counting 94
Judging 96
Validating Behavioral Measures 98
Measurement Helps You See Small Changes 98

12. Performance Feedback 101

Feedback Is an Antecedent 102
Feedback in Graphs 103
Feedback Interval 103
Individual Versus Group Feedback 104
Performer-Controlled Feedback 105
Feedback and Reinforcement 106

13. A Model for Problem Solving 108

The Model 108
Implementing the Model 110
Part 4. Turning Good Intentions into High Performance

14. Goal Setting to Shape Behavior
   Understanding the True Nature of Goals 120
   Shaping: The Fastest Way to Change 124
   Organizational Goals and Benchmarking 125

15. The Missing Link in Quality
   Fatally Flawed Notions of Quality 128
   Deming’s 14 Points 131
   Quality Through Consequences 132

16. Teams and Empowerment
   Motherhood, Apple Pie, and Teams 134
   The Team Concept: In Search of a Problem 135
   Making Teams Work 136
     Behavior Is the Key 137
     Achieving Success Through Performance Management 139
     Can You Reinforce a Team? 140
     Making the Most of Reinforcement 140
   Empowerment Through Shaping 140

17. Turning Downsizing into Rightsizing
   Tough Times Demand Positive Management 142
   “Rightsizing” Is the Answer 143
   Fortune’s Six “Rules” 144

18. Recognition, Reward, Reinforcement, and Relationships
   There Are Cheaper Ways to Make People Unhappy 150
   Ineffective Rewards, Recognition, and Incentives 152
   Employee of the Month 152
     Create a Bigger Winners’ Circle 155
   Contests 156
Embarrassment Awards 156
Suggestion Systems 157
Finding Joy and Gladness at Work 157
Group Incentives 159
Annual Bonus Plans 160
Gainsharing 160
Too Little, Too Few, Too Late 161
Making Rewards and Recognition Effective 161
Relationships Make It Happen 162

19. Compensation and Performance Appraisal 165
Compensation As Reward 165
Compensation Is a PFU 166
Pay and Contingency 167
Pay As A Form of Competition 167
Noncontingent Benefits 157
Performance Appraisal 168
Pinpointing Results: The Performance Matrix 172

Part 5. Revitalizing the Workplace

20. Performance Management: The Executive Function 179
The Executive Role in Performance Management 180
Systems and Structures 181
Herrnstein’s Hyperbola 183
Executive Behaviors 184
MBWA Through the Chain of Command 184
Tough Times Demand Positive Reinforcement—An Example 186

The Need 192
What Is Wrong with Traditional Education? 193
The Morningside Model 196
Fluency 197
Sources of Reinforcement 198
Motor Performance Research 199
Expertise Research 200

22. Increasing Creativity and Managing Change 203
Creativity Is Behavior 204
All Behavior Is Creative 205
Creativity and the ABC Model 205
  Positive Reinforcement 205
  Negative Reinforcement 207
  Punishment and Penalty 207
  The Impact of Extinction on Creativity 208
Is Chaos a Necessary Part of Change? 209
Change and Creativity 210
How to Make Change Easy and Efficient 210
Ten Strategies for Increasing Creativity 211

23. Managing the Nintendo Generation and Beyond 215
  The “Force” Is with Us 215
  The Nintendo Generation 216
  Patience, A Lost Virtue 217
  Management and NinGen 217
  Not More Variety—More Reinforcement 219
  Are They Worth the Trouble? 220
  What Is the Answer?—Quickly! 220
  In Sum 221

24. Thank God It’s Monday—Celebrating Work 222
  Making Work Fun 223
    Participants, Not Recipients 224
    Tangible Rewards Should Create Memories 225
    Take a Celebration Walk 225
    Use Customers, Vendors, and Visitors 226
    TGIM 226
  Epilogue 229

References 235
Index 239